FOREWORD

Accra Technical University (ATU) seeks to foster much prominence on quality teaching, research, and innovation in order to successfully compete nationally and internationally in terms of university rankings and networks as part of its mission and vision to improve applied and impact-oriented research quality and output.

The academic staff's efforts to conduct applied and impact-oriented research in support of Pillar 2 of our Strategic Plan (2021–2025) have led to a steady increase in the university's research outputs. ATU strongly supports the publications of staff in prestigious academic journals and conference proceedings. The awareness of such publications has been developed in each academic department in ATU, and this bulletin, which is the second edition for the calendar year 2022, specifically provides this information. This accomplishment by eminent academic staff members reflects ATU's persistent dedication to the growth of scholarly, technological, and applied (impact-oriented) research.

I take this opportunity to thank all academic staff in ATU for their innovative contributions in providing the compendium of completed research activities and subsequent compilation of publications in high impact publication outlets (publishers) and publication outlets indexed by web of science and scopus in each of our five (5) academic faculties for the calendar year 2022 by the Directorate of Research, Innovation, Publication and Technology Transfer (DRIPTT).

This second edition (volume 2) provides details of Research Publications in ATU and as Vice-Chancellor, I will continue to dedicate my vision towards impact-oriented and applied research to enhance our research outputs. Thumbs-up to the Director and staff of DRIPTT for their consistent efforts in producing ATU's second Research Publication Bulletin.

It is my hope that this Research Publications Bulletin Volume 2, 2023, will consistently provide a broad avenue of reference materials for the purpose of research activities, which will motivate staff to conduct more applied and impact-oriented research by annually publishing their research findings, results and innovations.

PREFACE

ATU is committed to the development and reputation of academic staff through quality research outputs as exhibited in this Research Publications Bulletin Volume 2, 2023. This Research Publications Bulletin contains the publications of academic staff in high impact refereed journals and conference proceedings indexed by Web of Science and Scopus in all our five (5) Faculties and sixteen (16) Academic Departments in ATU.

Specifically focusing on Pillar 2 (Impact-Oriented Research) in our Strategic Plan (2021-2025), DRIPTT drives the research agenda of ATU, as stated by the Vice-Chancellor. This will guarantee high standards for research in our institution, which will eventually raise ATU's standing on national and international scales.

DRIPTT under the Office of the Vice-Chancellor's is committed to ensure quality of publications, which is in line with Pillar 2 of our Strategic Plan (2021–2025). In summary, a total of 55 articles/papers have been published by 28 out of 248 full time academic staff in the year 2022, representing a staff to publication ratio of 0.11 (11%). The total number of publications by academic staff has improved in comparison to 50 in 2021. In recognition of the extensive difficulties in publishing in web of science and scopus, the 28 academic staff as shown in this research bulletin, have done extremely well and made ATU tremendously proud. Additionally, at the closure of 2022, 83 out of 248 full time academic staff (33%) in comparison 18% in 2021 are currently registered on Google Scholar. DRIPTT will continue to liaise with HODs and Deans to improve this situation by further facilitating research publications and visibility agenda in ATU.

It is important to note that this Research Publications Bulletin Volume 2, 2023 contains a thorough overview of the academic staff in each academic department and faculty, as well as information about their publication trends in high impact publication outlets for the calendar year 2022. We sincerely thank all academic departments and faculty members for the submission of their research outputs in order for the second edition of the Research Publications Bulletin to be developed and published.
